Susan,

The Deans had two questions. They wondered what is meant by #2 under institutional commitment "Cooperate in the concurrent and terminal evaluation of students in the courses." In addition, while we certainly try to do early warning to provide assistance to struggling students, I questions whether or not we have a system in place that would allow the classroom teacher to identify which students were yours and then notify you of any issues.

Those were the only two concerns. Let me know what you think.

Susan, I apologize for my lateness in getting back to you. I have looked at the agreement, and my only concern is whether or not a general education instructor would have any way of knowing whether or not a student experiencing difficulty was part of this joint admission project. I will talk to the Deans and see if they have any ideas re how this could be tracked. I will get back to you by next Monday at the latest.

If you are interested in implementing the program Jan 1, then it will need to go to our Board Meeting on December 20. We mail out information the week before so I will try to move this quickly.

Nancy: It was very nice to meet you at the Trinity Open House. Thank you so much for coming.

We have been reviewing some of our materials and found that the Agreement of Cooperation between our two schools expired in April 2010.

We modeled a new agreement after the outdated one, and I am attaching it to this email. Please let me know your thoughts. Once you and I have discussed, we will need to get all of the signatures in place.

I inserted a start date of March 1, but it would most likely be in our interest to have January 1, 2011 as the start date if everyone agrees especially since the previous agreement has expired.

When you have time, I would like to take you up on your offer of a tour of the EICC campuses. Thanks again for your assistance in this matter.

Susan, That would be great. I'm out of the office today, but am checking my emails so et me know what your Deans say. I need to get the agree ment in th Board packet by tomorrow, Wednesday at the latest.

EMS is one of my programs. I would be happy to meet with you and our program director.
Dee Brand may be able to continue to help you, but if you need additional information the program administrator is Janet Coogen. She can be reached at 563-441-4201.

Nancy: I will talk to the Academic Dean on Monday about your questions regarding the articulation agreement. Also I would like to get together with you or someone you suggest to talk about a few academic issues surrounding the elimination of our surgical technology and EMS programs. When there is change, many questions surface such as the numbers of EMS students you currently have (EMT and Paramedic) and whether there is a wait list for the program. Are there openings in the program for additional students? Is the program seeking CAAHEP accreditation?

With Surgical Technology, I had spoken to D. Brand early on. Again looking at numbers, how many students does Scott currently have in Surgical Technology, is there a wait list, and are there openings for new students? Dee told me that the program will seek CAAHEP accreditation. Additionally, Trinity Medical Center would like to provide clinical space and experiences for Scott Surgical Technology students.

If you can point me in the right direction to get this information and meet with someone, I would greatly appreciate it. Thanks so much. Sue

Susan,

The Deans had two questions. They wondered what is meant by #2 under institutional commitment "Cooperate in the concurrent and terminal evaluation of students in the courses." In addition, while we certainly try to do early warning to provide assistance to struggling students, I questions whether or not we have a system in place that would allow the classroom teacher to identify which students were yours and then notify you of any issues.

Those were the only two concerns. Let me know what you think.

Susan, I apologize for my lateness in getting back to you. I have looked at the agreement, and my only concern is whether or not a general education instructor would have any way of knowing whether or not a student experiencing difficulty was part of this joint admission project. I will talk to the Deans and see if they have any ideas re how this could be tracked. I will get back to you by next Monday at the latest.

If you are interested in implementing the program Jan 1, then it will need to go to our Board Meeting on December 20. We mail out information the week before so I will try to move this quickly.
